CHAPTER 1

Introduction

This publication sets out CIPFA's guidance on the function and operation of audit committees in local authorities and police bodies, and represents best practice for audit committees in local authorities throughout the UK and for police audit committees in England and Wales.

This publication incorporates CIPFA's Position Statement: Audit Committees in Local Authorities and Police (2018) ('the Position Statement'), which sets out CIPFA's view of the role and functions of an audit committee and replaces the previous 2013 Position Statement. Throughout the Position Statement the terms 'authority' and 'authorities' are used to include police and crime commissioners (PCCs) and chief constables as well as local authorities and fire and rescue authorities.

The Position Statement emphasises the importance of audit committees being in place in all principal local authorities and police bodies. It also recognises that audit committees are a key component of governance.

The purpose of an audit committee is to provide to those charged with governance independent assurance on the adequacy of the risk management framework, the internal control environment and the integrity of the financial reporting and annual governance processes. In police bodies 'those charged with governance' are the PCC and the chief constable.

Audit committees are an important source of assurance about an organisation's arrangements for managing risk, maintaining an effective control environment and reporting on financial and other performance. The way in which an audit committee is organised will vary depending on the specific political and management arrangements in place in any organisation. This guidance therefore explores how audit committees relate to organisations' different arrangements for managing and governing themselves.

Audit committees in local authorities and police bodies are necessary to satisfy the wider requirements for sound financial management and internal control. For example in England, the Accounts and Audit \(England\) Regulations 2015 state that a local authority is responsible "for a sound system of internal control which facilitates the effective exercise of its functions and the achievement of its aims and objectives; ensures that the financial and operational management of the authority is effective and includes effective arrangements for the management of risk". In addition, in England, Section 151 of the Local Government Act 1972 requires every local authority to "make arrangements for the proper administration of its financial affairs".

Regardless of the specific legislative or regulatory framework, the chief financial officer (CFO) has overarching responsibility for discharging the requirement for sound financial management. To be truly effective, the CFO requires an effective audit committee to provide support and challenge. An essential role for the audit committee is to oversee internal audit, helping to ensure that it is adequate and effective. Both these elements are now enshrined in the Public Sector Internal Audit Standards \(PSIAS\) and the supporting Local Government Application Note for the United Kingdom Public Sector Internal Audit Standards \(LGAN\).

There have been a number of significant developments in governance and audit practice since 2013 which have emphasised the importance of the audit committee. Key developments include:

- the new Delivering Good Governance in Local Government: Framework (CIPFA/Solace, 2016)
- updates to the PSIAS in 2016 and 2017
- the Code of Practice on Managing the Risk of Fraud and Corruption (CIPFA, 2014).

Legislation has also had an impact, in particular the Local Audit and Accountability Act 2014, which introduced changes to the appointment of external auditors. The new combined authorities must also establish an audit committee in accordance with statutory regulations. For police bodies, the operation of joint audit committees supporting both the PCC and the chief constable have now completed a full term and further changes are on the horizon.

The Policing and Crime Act 2017 enables a PCC (following local consultation and approval from the secretary of state) to take on the governance of its local fire and rescue service(s) to become the fire and rescue authority, known as a police and crime commissioner fire and rescue authority (PCC FRA). This would be a separate legal entity from the PCC.

The PCC FRA would be a corporation sole and a fire and rescue authority. There would therefore be the need for appropriate audit committee arrangements. Guidance on this is expected to be included in the Financial Management Code of Practice for the Police Forces of England and Wales (Home Office, 2013 – due to be updated in 2018). The aim of this publication is to support fire and rescue authority and police audit committees in performing effectively.

Best practice dictates that governance, risk management and strong financial controls be embedded in the daily and regular business of an organisation. The existence of an audit committee does not remove responsibility from senior managers, members and leaders, but provides an opportunity and resource to focus on these issues. For police audit committees, there is a requirement to have independent members on the audit committee and Welsh authorities and English combined authorities must also include at least one independent member. CIPFA considers that this is in line with good practice. In establishing their audit committees, other authorities should recognise the need to demonstrate good governance principles and independence from the executive and other political allegiances.

This guidance is applicable to all principal local authorities and fire and rescue authorities in the UK, and to the independent audit committees established to support PCCs and chief constables. Where there is specific legislation or guidance relevant for one sector or devolved government, this has been highlighted in the publication.

CIPFA's Position Statement: Audit Committees in Local Authorities and Police

The scope of this Position Statement includes all principal local authorities in the UK, the audit committees for PCCs and chief constables in England and Wales, and the audit committees of fire and rescue authorities.

- 1 Audit committees are a key component of an authority's governance framework. Their function is to provide an independent and high-level resource to support good governance and strong public financial management.
- 2 The purpose of an audit committee is to provide to those charged with governance independent assurance on the adequacy of the risk management framework, the internal control environment and the integrity of the financial reporting and governance processes. By overseeing both internal and external audit it makes an important contribution to ensuring that effective assurance arrangements are in place.
- 3 Authorities and police audit committees should adopt a model that establishes the committee as independent and effective. The committee should:
  - act as the principal non-executive, advisory function supporting those charged with governance
  - in local authorities, be independent of both the executive and the scrutiny functions and include an independent member where not already required to do so by legislation
  - in police bodies, be independent of the executive or operational responsibilities of the PCC or chief constable
  - have clear rights of access to other committees/functions, for example, scrutiny and service committees, corporate risk management boards and other strategic groups
  - be directly accountable to the authority's governing body or the PCC and chief constable.
- 4 The core functions of an audit committee are to:
  - be satisfied that the authority's assurance statements, including the annual governance statement, properly reflect the risk environment and any actions required to improve it, and demonstrate how governance supports the achievement of the authority's objectives
  - in relation to the authority's internal audit functions:
    - oversee its independence, objectivity, performance and professionalism
    - support the effectiveness of the internal audit process

- promote the effective use of internal audit within the assurance framework
  - consider the effectiveness of the authority’s risk management arrangements and the control environment, reviewing the risk profile of the organisation and assurances that action is being taken on risk-related issues, including partnerships and collaborations with other organisations
  - monitor the effectiveness of the control environment, including arrangements for ensuring value for money, supporting standards and ethics and for managing the authority’s exposure to the risks of fraud and corruption
  - consider the reports and recommendations of external audit and inspection agencies and their implications for governance, risk management or control
  - support effective relationships between external audit and internal audit, inspection agencies and other relevant bodies, and encourage the active promotion of the value of the audit process.
  - review the financial statements, external auditor’s opinion and reports to members, and monitor management action in response to the issues raised by external audit.
- 5 An audit committee can also support its authority by undertaking a wider role in other areas including:
- considering governance, risk or control matters at the request of other committees or statutory officers
  - working with local standards and ethics committees to support ethical values
  - reviewing and monitoring treasury management arrangements in accordance with Treasury Management in the Public Services: Code of Practice and Cross-Sectoral Guidance Notes (CIPFA, 2017)
  - providing oversight of other public reports, such as the annual report.
- 6 Good audit committees are characterised by:
- a membership that is balanced, objective, independent of mind, knowledgeable and properly trained to fulfil their role. The political balance of a formal committee of a council will reflect the political balance of the council, however, it is important to achieve the right mix of apolitical expertise
  - a membership that is supportive of good governance principles and their practical application towards the achievement of organisational objectives
  - a strong independently minded chair – displaying a depth of knowledge, skills and interest. There are many personal qualities needed to be an effective chair, but key to these are:
    - promoting apolitical open discussion
    - managing meetings to cover all business and encouraging a candid approach from all participants
    - an interest in and knowledge of financial and risk management, audit, accounting concepts and standards, and the regulatory regime
  - unbiased attitudes – treating auditors, the executive and management fairly
  - the ability to challenge the executive and senior managers when required.

- 7 To discharge its responsibilities effectively the committee should:
- meet regularly – at least four times a year, and have a clear policy on those items to be considered in private and those to be considered in public
  - be able to meet privately and separately with the external auditor and with the head of internal audit
  - include, as regular attendees, the CFO(s), the chief executive, the head of internal audit and the appointed external auditor. Other attendees may include the monitoring officer (for standards issues) and the head of resources (where such a post exists). These officers should also be able to access the committee, or the chair, as required
  - have the right to call any other officers or agencies of the authority as required, while recognising the independence of the chief constable in relation to operational policing matters
  - report regularly on its work to those charged with governance, and at least annually report an assessment of their performance. An annual public report should demonstrate how the committee has discharged its responsibilities.

The purpose of audit committees

Extract from the Position Statement

- 1 Audit committees are a key component of an authority's governance framework. Their function is to provide an independent and high level resource to support good governance and strong public financial management.
- 2 The purpose of an audit committee is to provide to those charged with governance independent assurance on the adequacy of the risk management framework, the internal control environment and the integrity of the financial reporting and governance processes. By overseeing internal and external audit it makes an important contribution to ensuring that effective assurance arrangements are in place.

The overall aim of good governance is to ensure that:

- resources are directed in accordance with agreed policy and according to priorities
- there is sound and inclusive decision making
- there is clear accountability for the use of those resources in order to achieve desired outcomes for service users and communities.

Governance is defined in Delivering Good Governance in Local Government: Framework (CIPFA/Solace, 2016) as follows:

- Governance comprises the arrangements put in place to ensure that the intended outcomes for stakeholders are defined and achieved.
- To deliver good governance in the public sector, both governing bodies and individuals working for public sector entities must try to achieve their entity's objectives while acting in the public interest at all times.

Good governance is ultimately the responsibility of the governing body, as well as those with leadership roles and statutory responsibilities in the organisation, including the chief executive, the CFO and the monitoring officer. In local government, the governing body is the full council or authority and both the PCC and chief constable are responsible as a corporation sole.

The audit committee should play a key role in supporting the discharge of those responsibilities by providing a high-level focus on audit, assurance and reporting. In local government, this committee may be delegated some governance responsibilities by the council; the police audit committee must remain an advisory body to the PCC and the chief constable. New policing arrangements were established by the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act 2011. Guidance for police audit committees is contained in the Financial

Management Code of Practice for the Police Forces of England and Wales (Home Office, 2013 – due to be updated in 2018).

As a key component of an organisation’s governance arrangements, the audit committee has the potential to be a valuable resource to the whole authority. Where it operates effectively, an audit committee adds value to its authority by supporting improvement across a range of objectives. To achieve wide-ranging influence, an audit committee will need commitment and energy from the membership together with support and openness from the authority.

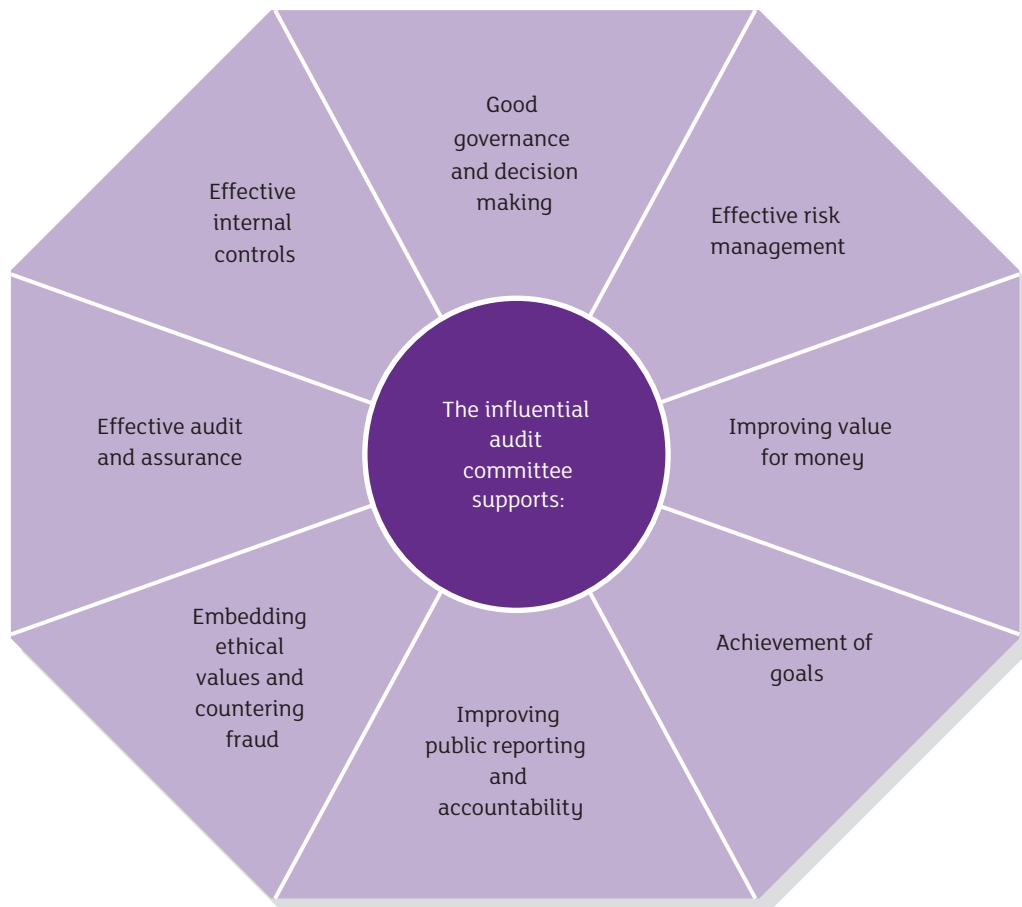

The principal areas where the committee can influence and add value are:

- promoting the principles of good governance and their application to decision making
- raising awareness of the need for sound internal control and contributing to the development of an effective control environment
- supporting arrangements for the governance of risk and for effective arrangements to manage risks
- advising on the adequacy of the assurance framework and considering whether assurance is deployed efficiently and effectively
- reinforcing the objectivity, importance and independence of internal audit and external audit and therefore the effectiveness of the audit functions
- aiding the achievement of the authority’s goals and objectives through helping ensure appropriate governance, risk, control and assurance arrangements
- supporting the development of robust arrangements for ensuring value for money
- helping the authority to implement the values of ethical governance, including effective arrangements for countering risks of fraud and corruption
- promoting measures to improve transparency and accountability and effective public reporting to the authority’s stakeholders and the local community.

The influence that an effective audit committee is able to have in these areas is set out in Figure 3.1 below.

Source: Audit Committees: Practical Guidance for Local Authorities and Police (CIPFA, 2013)

CIPFA's view is that audit committee functions can be most effectively delivered by a dedicated audit committee. Such a committee provides a key resource to support the implementation of good governance standards. It is possible for the functions of an audit committee to be undertaken by other bodies, but a dedicated resource is likely to be more knowledgeable and effective, having more time to focus on these important issues.

The core functions of an audit committee

Extract from the Position Statement

- 4 The core functions of an audit committee are to:
- be satisfied that the authority's assurance statements, including the annual governance statement, properly reflect the risk environment and any actions required to improve it, and demonstrate how governance supports the achievement of the authority's objectives
  - in relation to the authority's internal audit functions:
    - oversee its independence, objectivity, performance and professionalism
    - support the effectiveness of the internal audit process
    - promote the effective use of internal audit within the assurance framework
  - consider the effectiveness of the authority's risk management arrangements and the control environment, reviewing the risk profile of the organisation and assurances that action is being taken on risk-related issues, including partnerships and collaborations with other organisations
  - monitor the effectiveness of the control environment, including arrangements for ensuring value for money, supporting standards and ethics and for managing the authority's exposure to the risks of fraud and corruption
  - consider the reports and recommendations of external audit and inspection agencies and their implications for governance, risk management or control
  - support effective relationships between external audit and internal audit, inspection agencies and other relevant bodies, and encourage the active promotion of the value of the audit process
  - review the financial statements, external auditor's opinion and reports to members, and monitor management action in response to the issues raised by external audit.

The core functions that audit committees should undertake reflect both standard practice for audit committees across all sectors and specific legislative and professional standards requirements for the local authority and the police sectors. Reconciling these sometimes different requirements leads to audit committees in local authorities and police bodies having the distinctive features outlined in this guidance.

Principal regulations affecting the functions of the audit committee are outlined in Appendix A, and a suggested terms of reference for the committee is included in Appendix B. The remainder of this chapter provides further background and explanation for the audit committee's core functions.

GOOD GOVERNANCE AND THE ANNUAL GOVERNANCE STATEMENT

Audit committees provide essential support for the approval of the annual governance statement (AGS) and for ensuring that good governance is embedded throughout the authority's day-to-day activities rather than being limited to a once-a-year reporting process. The audit committee is able to support this approach by addressing governance principles in the course of its regular business.

Delivering Good Governance in Local Government: Framework (CIPFA/Solace, 2016) ('the Framework') sets the standard for governance in UK local government bodies. The Framework is supported by guidance notes for each sector as follows:

- Delivering Good Governance in Local Government: Guidance Notes for English Authorities (CIPFA/Solace, 2016)
- Delivering Good Governance in Local Government: Guidance Notes for Scottish Authorities (CIPFA/Solace, 2016)
- Delivering Good Governance in Local Government: Guidance Notes for Welsh Authorities (CIPFA/Solace, 2016).
- Delivering Good Governance: Guidance Notes for Policing Bodies in England and Wales (CIPFA, 2016).

The Framework is principles based and informs the approach to good governance adopted by PCCs and chief constables as well as local authorities and fire and rescue authorities. CIPFA recommends that each authority develops a local code of governance setting out how it applies the principles.

Legislation requires local authorities, fire and rescue authorities and police bodies to prepare an AGS and to report publicly on the effectiveness of governance and control (see Appendix A for details of the legislative requirements). The AGS should be reviewed and then approved by a body of the authority prior to being signed by the leading member and the chief executive of an authority and by the PCC and chief constable. Typically, audit committees undertake the role of reviewing the AGS prior to approval. Police audit committees should review the AGS of both the PCC and the chief constable.

Statutory and professional guidelines will determine when the AGS goes before the audit committee for review. For example, English local authorities under the Accounts and Audit Regulations 2015 must approve and publish the AGS by 31 July at the latest for the financial year starting 2017 and thereafter. CIPFA recommends that the AGS is first reviewed by members of the audit committee at an earlier stage to allow comments and contributions to be made. The AGS must be current at the time it is published, so the audit committee should review it before final approval.

To provide a meaningful review of the AGS, the audit committee should be in a position to draw on knowledge of the governance arrangements as they are established and on assurances of how they have operated in practice during the course of the year. The audit committee should undertake the following activities to discharge their responsibilities:

- review the local code of governance and any changes to the arrangements in the year (note it is not the responsibility of the audit committee to establish any local code, but it should be consulted)
- ensure that the AGS is underpinned by a framework of assurance (see later section for more details on assurance planning)
- over the course of the year, receive reports and assurances over the application of the governance arrangements in practice
- monitor implementation of action plans or recommendations to improve governance arrangements
- consider how the organisation applies governance principles in practice during the committee's review of other agenda items.

Given its role in overseeing the local code of governance and the AGS, the audit committee has an opportunity to promote the implementation of the principles of good governance across the authority: to make things better in the future, not just reviewing what happened in the past. For example, the committee may make recommendations for action to senior management or refer matters to other committees. The limits to the decision-making powers of audit committees are considered in more depth in Chapter 6.

INTERNAL AUDIT

The audit committee has a clear role in relation to oversight of the authority's internal audit function. From 1 April 2013, internal auditors throughout local and central government and health have had to follow the PSIAS and the LGAN. All principal local authorities and other relevant bodies subject to the Accounts and Audit Regulations 2015, the Accounts and Audit \(Wales\) Regulations 2014, the Local Authority Accounts \(Scotland\) Regulations 2014 and the Local Government \(Accounts and Audit\) Regulations \(Northern Ireland\) 2015 must make provision for internal audit in accordance with the PSIAS and LGAN.

The PSIAS include the Mission of Internal Audit, Code of Ethics, Definition of Internal Auditing and the Core Principles for the Professional Practice of Internal Auditing, and together these highlight the importance of effective internal audit to those in the organisation who are responsible for governance.

In its adoption of the PSIAS and LGAN, each authority or police body should consider which committee or individual is the most appropriate to fulfil the role of the board in relation to internal audit. In determining the functional reporting arrangements of internal audit, the authority will need to bear in mind the need to preserve the independence and objectivity of internal audit as required by the PSIAS. It is for these reasons that in the LGAN, CIPFA expressed an expectation that the audit committee would fulfil the role of the board in the majority of instances. Since police audit committees must remain advisory bodies, their role will be to support and review the functional reporting arrangements.

It is a requirement of the PSIAS that the terms of reference of the audit committee should reflect the functional reporting arrangements of internal audit to the audit committee as set out in the internal audit charter, which is the formal document that defines internal audit's purpose, authority and responsibility.

The role of the audit committee in relation to internal audit is to:

1. oversee its independence, objectivity, performance and professionalism
2. support the effectiveness of the internal audit process
3. promote the effective use of internal audit within the assurance framework.

Within police bodies this is an advisory role for the audit committee.

The specific activities that these three objectives lead to are considered below.

Oversee independence, objectivity, performance and professionalism

The following activities are the functional reporting arrangements set out in the PSIAS to ensure the organisational independence of internal audit. According to the specific internal audit charter of the authority, the audit committee could have a role to:

- review or approve the following:
  - the internal audit charter
  - the risk-based internal audit plan
  - the internal audit budget and resource plan
- receive confirmation of the organisational independence of the internal audit activity
- consider the appointment and removal of the head of internal audit or the award of a contract for internal audit services
- make appropriate enquiries of both management and the head of internal audit to determine if there are any inappropriate scope or resource limitations
- approve and periodically review any safeguards put in place to limit impairments to independence and objectivity where the head of internal audit has been asked to undertake any additional roles/responsibilities outside of internal auditing
- receive the annual report, which includes:
  - the annual opinion on the overall adequacy and effectiveness of governance, risk management and control
  - a summary of the work on which internal audit has based the opinion
  - a statement on conformance with the PSIAS and the LGAN
  - the results of the quality assurance and improvement programme, including specific detail as required in the PSIAS
- discuss with the head of internal audit the form of the external assessment of internal audit and the qualifications and independence of the assessor.

The head of internal audit or chief internal auditor (referred to in the PSIAS and the LGAN as 'chief audit executive') must have free and unfettered access to the chair of the audit committee. In addition, the chair of the audit committee may serve as sponsor for the external assessment, which forms part of the quality assurance and improvement programme (QAIP) at least once every five years.

Support the effectiveness of the internal audit process

The audit committee has an important role to play in supporting the process of internal audit and outputs from audit work. The following activities form a core part of this:

- receiving updates on the work of internal audit including key findings, issues of concern and action in hand as a result of internal audit work
- receiving communications from the head of internal audit on the internal audit activity's performance relative to its plan and other matters
- giving approval to internal audit for any significant additional consulting services not already included in the audit plan, prior to internal audit accepting an engagement
- receiving reports on instances where the internal audit function does not conform to the PSIAS or LGAN and considering whether the non-conformance is sufficiently significant that it must be included in the AGS
- overseeing the relationship of internal audit with other assurance providers and with external audit and any inspectorates
- receiving regular reports on the results of the QAIP, including the external assessment.

Promote the effective use of internal audit within the assurance framework

The audit committee should make best use of the internal audit resource within the assurance framework. In particular, the audit committee should seek confirmation from internal audit that the audit plan takes into account the requirement to produce an annual internal audit opinion that can be used to inform the AGS. Specific activities will include:

- approving (but not directing) the risk-based plan, considering the use made of other sources of assurance
- receiving reports outlining the action taken where the head of internal audit has concluded that management has accepted a level of risk that may be unacceptable to the authority
- when considering the AGS, taking into account internal audit's opinion on the overall adequacy and effectiveness of the authority's framework of governance, risk management and control.

Those audit committees that operate under the Local Authority Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2014 and the Accounts and Audit (Wales) Regulations 2014 must conduct a review of the effectiveness of their internal audit annually (Appendix A includes details of the relevant regulations). The audit committee should take into account internal audit's QAIP when conducting such a review.

The CIPFA Statement on the Role of the Head of Internal Audit in Public Service Organisations (CIPFA, 2010 – due to be updated in 2018) states that engagement between the head of internal audit and the audit committee is a crucial component of delivering an effective internal audit service.

Audit committee members should keep up to date with changes affecting the professional practices and expectations of internal auditors so that they can provide the necessary support.

RISK MANAGEMENT

In determining the audit committee's responsibilities towards risk management, authorities should have regard to the responsibilities of other committees such as scrutiny committees and the specific responsibilities of those charged with governance in relation to risk management. Where a local authority establishes a separate risk committee, then its roles and responsibilities need to be taken into account in determining the role of the audit committee. Police audit committees are directed in the Financial Management Code of Practice for the Police Forces of England and Wales (Home Office, 2013 – due to be updated in 2018) to advise the PCC and the chief constable on the adoption of appropriate risk management arrangements. Welsh local authority and English combined authority audit committees are required to review and assess risk management arrangements.

Assurance over risk management will be a key element underpinning the AGS. The audit committee also needs a good understanding of the level of assurance risk management provides when it reviews the risk-based internal audit plan or reviews other assurances on areas of risk.

The role of the audit committee in relation to risk management covers three major areas:

- First, assurance over the governance of risk, including leadership, integration of risk management into wider governance arrangements and the top level ownership and accountability for risks. The specific actions this requires include:
  - overseeing the authority's risk management policy and strategy and their implementation in practice
  - overseeing the integration of risk management into the governance and decision-making processes of the organisation
  - ensuring that the AGS is an adequate reflection of the risk environment.
- Second, keeping up to date with the risk profile and the effectiveness of risk management actions by:
  - reviewing arrangements to co-ordinate and lead risk management. An example of such an arrangement is the existence of a group to examine, challenge and support the risk assessment process to ensure consistency
  - reviewing the risk profile and keeping up to date with significant areas of strategic risks and major operational or major project risks and seeking assurance that these risks are managed effectively and owned appropriately
  - seeking assurance that strategies and policies are supported by adequate risk assessments and that risks are being actively managed and monitored
  - following up risks identified by auditors and inspectors to ensure they are integrated into the risk management process.
- Third, monitoring the effectiveness of risk management arrangements and supporting the development and embedding of good practice in risk management by:
  - overseeing any evaluation or assessment such as a risk maturity assessment or risk benchmarking
  - reviewing evaluation or assurance reports on risk management and monitoring progress on improvement plans

- monitoring action plans and development work in the field of risk management practice.

Flexibility in the audit committee agenda to adapt to new or heightened risks will ensure that the committee is responsive and focused on priority issues.

ASSURANCE FRAMEWORKS AND ASSURANCE PLANNING

Authorities may have developed a description or diagram explaining what assurances exist and who is responsible for them. Such descriptions may be described as an assurance framework or assurance map. Typically, they outline key areas of the assurances required by the audit committee, such as on governance, risks and controls, and they identify the assurance providers. These may include internal audit, risk management advisors and management. The audit committee should support initiatives to identify and evaluate assurance in this way.

Whether or not there is a formally set-down assurance framework, the audit committee has a responsibility to understand what assurance is available to support the AGS and to enable the committee to meet its terms of reference. The committee should be seeking to ensure that assurance is planned and delivered with the following objectives in mind:

- clarity of what assurance is required
- clear allocation of responsibility for providing assurance
- avoiding duplication, bearing in mind the differing objectives of assurance activities
- improving the efficiency and cost effectiveness of assurance
- obtaining assurance of appropriate rigour and independence across a range of assurance providers.

Having a clear assurance framework in place will assist the committee in a number of areas. It supports the annual review of effectiveness for the AGS. It also supports the approval of the internal audit risk-based plan as it enables the committee to identify the extent to which it will rely on internal audit for its assurance requirements. In reviewing assurance arrangements, the committee should bear in mind that the assurance process has a cost to the organisation and it should therefore be proportional to the risk.

VALUE FOR MONEY AND BEST VALUE

Making best use of resources is a key objective for all local authorities and it is part of the Framework. One of the behaviours and actions that underpin Principle C of the Framework is “delivering defined outcomes on a sustainable basis within the resources that will be available”.

Under Sections 2, 3 and 35 of the Police Reform and Social Responsibility Act 2011, the chief constable has statutory responsibility to secure value for money (VfM) and the PCC to hold the chief constable to account for this duty. The audit committee’s role is to support both the PCC and chief constable to fulfil their responsibilities through the assurance process.

Assurance should focus on both the arrangements to ensure and the progress in achieving VfM. An authority should have in place arrangements to obtain assurance over its performance against VfM objectives and strategies. The role of the audit committee will need to be determined in the context of what other committees may be doing. For example, a scrutiny committee may oversee service reviews that consider performance against VfM objectives.

The role of the audit committee is most likely to focus on whether the authority's overall approach to VfM is in line with governance objectives and to receive assurances on this to underpin the AGS. The Framework emphasises that the AGS should be focused on outcomes and VfM.

One specific area of activity for the committee will be consideration of the external auditor's wider work as set out in the codes of audit practice and other guidance adopted by national audit bodies as follows:

- England – statutory value for money conclusion as defined by the National Audit Office
- Scotland – periodic reviews of best value
- Wales – Wales Audit Office annual improvement reports
- Northern Ireland – review of arrangements for the use of resources.

Where the external auditor has issued a qualified conclusion on VfM, the audit committee should ensure there is a robust action plan to address the issues raised. In addition, the audit committee should consider what other assurances are available in relation to identified VfM risks and highlight areas for improvement.

COUNTERING FRAUD AND CORRUPTION

Local authorities have responsibilities for the effective stewardship of public money and for safeguarding against losses due to fraud and corruption. Effective counter fraud arrangements also link to the ethical standards for members and officers that the public expects.

The audit committee should have oversight of the authority's counter fraud strategy, assessing whether it meets recommended practice and governance standards and complies with legislation such as the Bribery Act 2010.

The Code of Practice on Managing the Risk of Fraud and Corruption (CIPFA, 2014) ('the Code') sets out the counter fraud standards for public sector organisations; sector-specific strategies such as Fighting Fraud and Corruption Locally should also be considered, along with the CIPFA Fraud and Corruption Tracker (CFaCT) and Integrity Matters (HMIC, 2015). The committee should understand the level of fraud risk to which the authority is exposed and the implications for the wider control environment.

Oversight of counter fraud plans, resources and their effectiveness are key areas for obtaining assurance. Specific actions should include:

- reviewing the counter fraud strategy and considering whether it meets recommended practices
- championing good counter fraud and anti-corruption practice to the wider organisation
- reviewing the fraud risk profile and estimate of fraud losses or potential harm to the organisation and its local community

- reviewing the annual counter fraud plan of activity and resources, seeking assurance that it is in line with the strategy and fraud risk profile
- monitoring the performance of the counter fraud function
- overseeing any major areas of fraud identified and monitoring action plans to address control weaknesses.

The CIPFA guidance on the AGS included in the Framework recommends that the adequacy of counter fraud arrangements are evaluated and reported on in the AGS with reference to the Code. The audit committee should have sight of the assurances underpinning this assessment and can play an important role in supporting the development of effective counter fraud and corruption practice. The audit committee may also refer to the Internal Audit Standards Advisory Board's guidance Internal Audit's Role in Counter Fraud (2017), which sets out internal audit's responsibility to provide assurance to the organisation on how it manages fraud risk.

EXTERNAL AUDIT

Appointment of auditors

Audit committees have a role to play in relation to the appointment of external auditors. This role varies between England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, primarily due to the change in appointment procedures for English authorities with the closure of the Audit Commission and the introduction of new local audit arrangements under the Local Audit and Accountability Act 2014.

In Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, national audit agencies are responsible for the audits of local bodies. In England, authorities have the option to appoint auditors themselves via means of an auditor panel (individually or jointly with other bodies) or through Public Sector Audit Appointments (PSAA), which has been established by the Local Government Association (LGA) and specified as an 'appointing person' under the 2014 Act. For further information on auditor panels and the role of the audit committee, see Guide to Auditor Panels (CIPFA, 2015).

The audit committee's role in appointment is generally to express an opinion on the selection and rotation of the external auditor through whichever method is applicable for the organisation. The audit committee's objective is to support auditor independence and effective arrangements and relationships with the auditors.

In England, for all opted-in bodies, PSAA appoints the auditor following consultation with the body. Otherwise, the audit committee will work alongside the auditor panel which will oversee the local appointment process. Where the audit committee members meet the requirements of an auditor panel, as defined in regulations supporting the 2014 Act, then the committee is able to operate as an auditor panel itself and make recommendations on the appointment of the local auditor. Regard must be had for the 2014 Act and regulations if the committee is nominated as an auditor panel.

Monitoring the external audit process

The audit committee's role in relation to the external audit process has three principal aspects:

1. providing assurance that the external auditor team maintains independence following its appointment
2. receiving and considering the work of external audit
3. supporting the quality and effectiveness of the external audit process.

Supporting independence

The independence of auditors is critical for confidence in the audit opinion and audit process. For this reason, there is extensive guidance from the Financial Reporting Council (FRC) to external auditors on the need to safeguard independence and objectivity. These rules apply to all auditors across all sectors. In addition, the national audit bodies issue guidance to auditors on safeguarding integrity, objectivity and independence. It is an important role for an audit committee to help guard against threats to independence and to satisfy itself that the external auditor's independence is safeguarded. The critical issue of independence will be considered when the external auditor is appointed but the audit committee's role will be to monitor on an annual basis or more often when required.

Each year the external auditor will disclose to the committee an assessment of whether it is independent. This disclosure should include any significant facts that could impact, or be seen to impact, on independence and objectivity, together with any safeguards put in place. Usually this disclosure is included in the audit plan. The audit committee should use this opportunity to discuss with the external auditor their assessment of threats to independence and any safeguards.

Understanding the potential threats to external independence

Self-interest threat

Where there are or perceived to be financial or other interests that could impact on the actions of the external auditor. The potential fees from provision of non-audit or additional services to the audited body could fall within this category.

Self-review threat

Where the audit could include review of work performed, services or advice provided by the same firm or team.

Management threat

Where the auditor has become involved in or associated with decision making of the audited body.

Advocacy threat

Where the auditor has taken on an advocacy role for the audited body or supports the management in an adversarial or promotional context.

Familiarity (or trust) threat

Where familiarity or close personal relationships mean that the external auditor is insufficiently questioning or accepting in forming audit judgements.

Intimidation threat

When the conduct of the external auditor is influenced by fear or threats by individuals in the audited body.

Full details of the threats are set out in the Revised Ethical Standard 2016 (FRC, 2016).

The audit committee should seek information from the external auditor on its policies and processes for maintaining independence and monitoring compliance. It should also satisfy itself that no issues with compliance with the ethical standard have been raised by the contract monitoring undertaken by PSAA or the auditor panel (in England) or from audit quality reviews by the FRC. With regard to non-audit services, audit committees should monitor the approval of non-audit work and, in England, take into account the oversight of either PSAA or the auditor panel as appropriate.

Receiving and considering the work of external audit

The committee should receive the planned work programme to support the opinion and receive reports following the completion of external audit work. Where external audit make recommendations, the audit committee should discuss the action to be taken with the appropriate managers and monitor the agreed action plan. The committee should contribute to the authority's response to the annual audit letter.

Supporting the quality and effectiveness of the external audit process

The audit committee should support the quality and effectiveness of the external audit process through:

- understanding and commenting on external audit plans, assessment of risks and proposed areas of focus, and deployment of audit effort in response to identified risks
- considering the effectiveness of the external audit process, including:
  - whether the external auditor has a good understanding of the authority
  - how the external auditor has responded to areas of audit risk
  - actions taken to safeguard independence and objectivity
  - feedback from key people such as the responsible financial officer and the head of internal audit
- reporting to the full council, or the PCC, or the chief constable or other body as appropriate on the results of its considerations.

In monitoring the quality of the external audit provision, the audit committee should be briefed on any relevant issues around quality that emerge from the regulation of external audit, for example, the quality reports from PSAA and the FRC.

There should be an opportunity for the audit committee to meet privately and separately with the external auditor, independent of the presence of those officers with whom the auditor must retain a working relationship.

Inspection reports

Reports from inspection agencies can be a useful source of assurance about the authority's financial management and governance. The audit committee should have access to inspection reports as a source of assurance and compare the findings with any relevant internal audit and external audit reports. Inspection reports will need to be actioned by the corporate or appropriate departmental management team, but the audit committee has a role in monitoring such action to ensure that a consistent approach is adopted and that the various agencies have one recognisable point of entry into the authority.

FINANCIAL REPORTING

Local authority financial statements should follow the professional practices set down in the Code of Practice on Local Authority Accounting in the United Kingdom (CIPFA/LASAAC). The responsible financial officer must sign the statements to confirm that they have been properly prepared and are ready for audit prior to the commencement of the period for the exercise of public rights. For English authorities and policing bodies, the latest date by which the statements must be signed off is likely to be 31 May, as the 30 working day period for the exercise of public rights must include the first ten days in June.

Under the current regulations, Scottish, Welsh and Northern Irish authorities must all ensure that the financial statements are signed off by the CFO by 30 June. The Accounts and Audit \(Wales\) \(Amendment\) Regulations 2018 require preparation and publication to be completed to an earlier timetable with effect from years ending 31 March 2019 onwards. Authorities will formally approve the financial statements after the completion of the external audit.

The date by which the statements must be published is set down by government regulations. For 2017/18 onwards, the latest date for publication is 31 July for English authorities. Scottish and Welsh authorities must publish by 30 September and Northern Irish authorities must publish by 31 October. CIPFA recommends that it is good practice for the accounts and the AGS to be reviewed by the audit committee prior to the commencement of the external audit.

Audit committees may undertake a review of the statements and satisfy themselves that appropriate steps have been taken to meet statutory and recommended professional practices. Their work could include:

- reviewing the narrative report to ensure consistency with the statements and the financial challenges and risks facing the authority in the future
- reviewing whether the narrative report is readable and understandable by a lay person
- identifying the key messages from each of the financial statements and evaluating what that means for the authority in future years
- monitoring trends and reviewing for consistency with what is known about financial performance over the course of the year
- reviewing the suitability of accounting policies and treatments
- seeking explanations for changes in accounting policies and treatments
- reviewing major judgemental areas, eg provisions or reserves
- seeking assurances that preparations are in place to facilitate the external audit.

Understanding Local Authority Financial Statements (CIPFA/LASAAC, 2016) includes a checklist of questions to ask about a local authority's statements that audit committee members may find particularly helpful. In keeping with its role as an advisory body, the audit committee should review the financial statements prior to approval.

Other committees in the governance structure might also scrutinise the authority's financial performance. Care should be taken to avoid duplication and maintain the focus of the audit committee on financial reporting and financial governance rather than on wider issues of performance and spending priorities.

PARTNERSHIP GOVERNANCE AND COLLABORATION AGREEMENTS

Authorities commonly have a wide range of partnership and collaborative arrangements, including strategic relationships with other public sector organisations, shared service arrangements, commercial relationships with private sector partners and a range of service delivery arrangements with community groups or social enterprises.

Authorities may also be the accountable body for local enterprise partnerships (LEPs). PCCs may be considering options for collaboration with other relevant emergency services under the Policing and Crime Act 2017. Ensuring the adequacy of governance and risk management over such arrangements can be complicated, but it is very important as accountability for performance and stewardship of the public funds involved remains with the authority. For these reasons, the role of the audit committee in relation to these arrangements should be clearly defined.

The audit committee's role should be to consider the assurance available on whether the partnership or collaboration arrangements are satisfactorily established and are operating effectively. The committee should satisfy itself that the principles of good governance underpin the partnership arrangements. For example, the audit committee should seek assurance that the authority has appropriate arrangements to identify and manage risks, ensure good governance and obtain assurance on compliance. The committee may also want to know what arrangements have been put in place to maintain accountability to stakeholders and ensure transparency of decision making and standards of probity are maintained.

Where an authority is developing new partnership or collaboration arrangements, the audit committee may wish to receive assurance over governance matters at the project stage and seek clarity over its own responsibilities in relation to the governance arrangements of the new service delivery organisation.

The audit committee should consider the coverage of assurances that underpin the AGS to make sure that partnerships are adequately covered. Where an organisation of which the authority is a partner does not have its own audit committee, then the audit committee could be nominated to undertake this role. This is most likely for the audit committee of the accountable body in order to support the CFO.

In addition to reviewing assurances over partnerships, the committee may choose to develop its own partnership arrangements with the audit committees of partner organisations. This could involve planning and co-ordinating agendas, or developing forums to share ideas or briefings. More established partnerships could lead to the development of a shared audit committee between partner authorities or a joint committee. Chapter 6 considers the implications of partnerships for audit committee independence and accountability.

GOVERNANCE AND ETHICAL VALUES

Public sector entities are accountable not only for how much they spend but also for the ways they use the resources with which they have been entrusted. This is at the heart of Principle A of the Framework:

Behaving with integrity, demonstrating strong commitment to ethical values, and respecting the rule of law.

With its core role in supporting good governance, support for the ethical framework of the authority is also important for the audit committee. In addition, public sector organisations have an overarching mission to serve the public interest in adhering to the requirements of legislation and government policies. This makes it essential that the entire entity can demonstrate the integrity of all its actions and has mechanisms in place that encourage and enforce a strong commitment to ethical values and legal compliance at all levels. As part of its review of governance arrangements, the audit committee should be satisfied that there are adequate arrangements to achieve this.

All authorities should have regard to the Seven Principles of Public Life, known as the Nolan Principles. To promote high standards of conduct, the Committee on Standards in Public Life has recommended that:

Ethical standards issues should be included as regular items on board agendas or formally delegated to audit and risk committees for referral to the board as appropriate. Risks associated with poor standards should be included in risk assessments, and, where appropriate, risk registers. Mitigating strategies should be developed and monitored.

Source: Standards Matter: A Review of Best Practice in Promoting Good Behaviour in Public Life (Committee on Standards in Public Life, 2013)

As part of the annual governance review, the audit committee should consider how effectively the Seven Principles of Public Life are supported.

Whistleblowing arrangements support the development of ethical conduct and greater transparency, and also help authorities ensure compliance with the Public Interest Disclosure Act 1998. As part of the audit committee's oversight of the governance framework and assurances underpinning the AGS, the audit committee may wish to review the effectiveness of the whistleblowing arrangements.

Possible wider functions of an audit committee

Extract from the Position Statement

- 5 An audit committee can also support its authority by undertaking a wider role in other areas including:
- considering governance, risk or control matters at the request of other committees or statutory officers
  - working with local standards and ethics committees to support ethical values
  - reviewing and monitoring treasury management arrangements in accordance with Treasury Management in the Public Services: Code of Practice and Cross-Sectoral Guidance Notes (CIPFA, 2017)
  - providing oversight of other public reports, such as the annual report.

CONSIDERING MATTERS AT THE REQUEST OF STATUTORY OFFICERS OR OTHER COMMITTEES

Occasionally the audit committee may be requested to consider a review of a service, a proposed policy or other similar matters. Such requests could come from another committee of the organisation or from one of the statutory officers. In scoping the terms of reference for a review, the committee should avoid taking on a scrutiny or policy role and ensure the matter relates to governance, risk or control. Examples where it may be helpful for the audit committee to assist could include:

- reviewing whether adequate governance, risk management or audit processes are in place in relation to a specific service or new policy area
- providing advice to the executive on possible risks or implications for good governance arising from a proposed course of action or decision.

In each case, the aim of the committee should be to make recommendations in line with its role set out in the Position Statement – advocating the principles of good governance and helping to ensure that there are appropriate governance, risk, control and assurance arrangements in place. Audit committee recommendations may support the advice or recommendations of the statutory officers but cannot override that advice.

ETHICS COMMITTEE AND STANDARDS COMMITTEE ROLES

The audit committee's primary role in relation to standards and ethical conduct is to satisfy itself that there are appropriate arrangements in place, particularly in support of the AGS. Under the Localism Act 2011, English local authorities have a statutory duty to promote and maintain high standards of conduct and the audit committee should consider assurances on the discharge of this responsibility and be satisfied that there are arrangements in place. Occasionally the committee takes on a wider role, in the place of other committees. Specifically, there should be regard for the role and responsibilities of a standards committee, where there is one.

Where the local authority does have a standards committee, the lead on promoting high standards of conduct may be taken by that committee, and the most appropriate role for the audit committee would be to consider the effectiveness of the standards committee as part of the annual governance review. Where the audit committee takes on the responsibilities of the standards committee, there should be a clear distinction between the two roles and responsibilities in the terms of reference and meeting agendas.

Ethics in policing has received a lot of attention in the last few years with a number of reviews and new standards, including:

- the Code of Ethics (College of Policing, 2014)
- Tone from the Top: Leadership, Ethics and Accountability in Policing (Committee on Standards in Public Life, 2015)
- Integrity Matters (HMIC, 2016).

The establishment of an ethics committee to take the lead on this important area and to review and monitor practice is now regarded as best practice. In some policing areas these are separate committees, but in some areas the audit committees have taken on this responsibility.

There is no specific guidance on the operation of the ethics committee, but it is important to distinguish between the roles of the two committees. For the audit committee's governance responsibilities, it is appropriate for the committee to have an understanding of any current ethical risks and any initiatives to improve ethical behaviour within the force or PCC's office.

The audit committee should be satisfied that there are appropriate arrangements in place to support the committee's overview of governance and the AGS. The ethics committee's role will be to help establish and monitor those arrangements in practice, ensuring that the PCC and chief constable fulfill their statutory obligations. Where the audit committee is taking on wider ethics committee roles, then it should be clear within its terms of reference and meeting agendas how it separates the two roles.

TREASURY MANAGEMENT

Treasury Management in the Public Services: Code of Practice and Cross-Sectoral Guidance Notes (CIPFA, 2017) requires all local authorities to make arrangements for the scrutiny of treasury management. CIPFA does not require the audit committee to undertake that role and a local authority may nominate another committee instead. CIPFA is aware, however, that many authorities have nominated the audit committee to do this, and it is therefore appropriate to consider this activity as part of this guidance. The following clause from the Code should have been adopted by all local authorities and the appropriate body responsible for providing scrutiny nominated:

This organisation nominates (name of responsible body/committee) to be responsible for ensuring effective scrutiny of the treasury management strategy and policies.

Where the audit committee has been nominated, then it should be aware that it needs to undertake a scrutiny role in accordance with the Code, in addition to any oversight of governance, risks and assurance matters relating to treasury management it would consider as an audit committee. It is not appropriate for the audit committee to undertake any of the other roles outlined in the Code clauses as these are executive and decision-making roles rather than a scrutiny role.

Where the committee is undertaking scrutiny then this is likely to involve the following actions:

- developing greater awareness and understanding of treasury matters among the committee members
- reviewing the treasury management policy and procedures to be satisfied that controls are satisfactory
- receiving regular reports on activities, issues and trends to support the committee's understanding of treasury management activities. Note that the committee is not responsible for the regular monitoring of activity under clause 3 of the Code so the purpose of receiving regular reports should be clear
- reviewing the treasury risk profile and adequacy of treasury risk management processes
- reviewing assurances on treasury management (for example, an internal audit report, external audit or other review).

Treasury management is a specialist area so it is likely that committee members will require training, guidance and support when undertaking scrutiny. Specific areas of knowledge and skills are identified in Appendix C.

Independence and accountability

Extract from the Position Statement

- 3 Authorities and police audit committees should adopt a model that establishes the committee as independent and effective. The committee should:
- act as the principal non-executive, advisory function supporting those charged with governance
  - in local authorities, be independent of both the executive and the scrutiny functions and include an independent member where not already required to do so by legislation
  - in police bodies, be independent of the executive or operational responsibilities of the PCC or chief constable
  - have clear rights of access to other committees/functions, for example, scrutiny and service committees, corporate risk management boards and other strategic groups
  - be directly accountable to the authority's governing body or the PCC and chief constable.
- 7 To discharge its responsibilities effectively the committee should:
- meet regularly – at least four times a year, and have a clear policy on those items to be considered in private and those to be considered in public
  - include, as regular attendees, the CFO(s), the chief executive, the head of internal audit and the appointed external auditor. Other attendees may include the monitoring officer (for standards issues) and the head of resources (where such a post exists). These officers should also be able to access the committee, or the chair, as required
  - have the right to call any other officers or agencies of the authority as required, while recognising the independence of the chief constable in relation to operational policing matters
  - report regularly on its work to those charged with governance, and at least annually report an assessment of their performance. An annual public report should demonstrate how the committee has discharged its responsibilities.

CIPFA is keen that each local authority or police body adopts an audit committee model that achieves its purpose and functions successfully. CIPFA's recommended best practice is intended to support the development of effective arrangements and should not be regarded merely as a compliance checklist.

For a local authority, in CIPFA's view, it is best practice for the audit committee to report directly to council rather than to another committee, as the council itself most closely matches the body of 'those charged with governance'. In the police sector, both the PCC and chief constable are separate corporations sole and so each will fulfil the role of 'those charged with governance'.

In establishing the audit committee within the governance structure of the authority, three key elements should be considered:

1. any statutory guidance applicable to the sector
2. independence from the executive and political allegiances
3. a practical assessment of 'what works' in the local context.

Each of these elements is considered in more detail in the following sections.

SECTOR AND DEVOLVED GOVERNMENT GUIDANCE

---

The local authority and police sectors are subject to differing regulations according to both sector and devolved national governments. Those affecting audit committees are set out in Appendix A. While there is broad similarity in the guidance across the UK, there are differences as a result of specific statutory guidance and regulations including:

- statutory requirements for audit committees in Wales
- statutory requirements for combined authorities to establish an audit committee
- statutory guidance underpinning the operation of police audit committees in England and Wales.

Local authorities in Wales have a clear statutory role established by the Local Government \(Wales\) Measure 2011. The Welsh Government has provided statutory guidance on the implementation of the measure's requirements, and local authorities in Wales must have regard to this guidance. The Cities and Local Government Devolution Act 2016 requires combined authorities to establish an audit committee of which at least one member must be appointed as an independent member. The Home Office's Financial Management Code of Practice for the Police Forces of England and Wales (2013 – due to be updated in 2018) (the 'FMCP') requires PCCs and chief constables to establish an independent audit committee. This is an advisory committee to both the PCC and the chief constable, both of whom are established as a corporation sole.

The Policing and Crime Act 2017 enables a PCC in England (following local consultation and approval from the secretary of state) to take on the governance of their local fire and rescue service(s) to become a PCC FRA. The 2018 edition of the FMCP is likely to include guidance concerning audit committees in this event.

Other regulations include the appropriate accounts and audit regulations for England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland, which regulate functions such as internal audit, the review of the AGS and the accounts. These functions can be undertaken by the audit committee and where it does so, the committee should have regard to the regulations.

Impact of other legislation

The standards committee's role has been affected by the Localism Act 2011 in England, and some authorities have chosen to transfer responsibility for looking at ethical governance matters to the audit committee, while retaining a standards panel to oversee investigations.

Other relevant recommendations

The Exercise by Local Government Auditors of Their Functions in the Year to 31 March 2015, a report produced by the Chief Local Government Auditor of the Northern Ireland Audit Office, commented that in a small number of councils the audit committee was not operating as a full committee. The Chief Local Government Auditor has recommended that audit committees should be a full committee reporting directly to council.

STRUCTURE AND INDEPENDENCE

Local authorities

For local authorities, stand-alone audit committees reporting to full council are the most common arrangement in the UK. The CIPFA Survey on Audit Committees in Local Authorities and Police 2016 found that, across the UK, 85% of councils had audit committees that reported to full council, leaving only 15% that reported via cabinet or other committee. The survey also showed that the number of stand-alone audit committees had declined from 58% to 47% alongside a rise in the number of joint committees. Some joint committees' responsibilities were audit and risk or audit and governance, however, others included responsibilities such as procurement or health and safety. There had also been a small rise in the number of joint audit and standards committees. Another arrangement, more common in Scotland, was the integration of audit committee functions into a policy committee.

Reporting to the executive may appear to be advantageous if it increases the prospect of audit committee recommendations being addressed. However, there are two disadvantages from a wider governance perspective: first, by not reporting to full council ('those charged with governance'), the audit committee may not be supporting that body in discharging its governance responsibilities; and, second, members and citizens may see the audit committee as not being independent of the executive.

Combining audit with other committees may appear to be an attractive arrangement, but there is always a danger either that audit committee functions become diluted by the pressure of other business or that the proper functions of these bodies become less clear. Having a group of members bearing the name 'audit committee' will add weight when considering audit and related issues. Extending the remit of the audit committee to other matters could create confusion about the role of the audit committee and ultimately undermine its effectiveness.

Financial scrutiny is a different role from that fulfilled by the audit committee. Financial scrutiny committees are likely to undertake reviews of the council's budget proposals and financial performance. The audit committee should not seek to replicate scrutiny undertaken but should focus on the oversight of governance, risk and control and the audit process.

However the audit committee is constituted, all members should be aware that the work of the audit committee is non-political. Chapter 7 includes a section on the composition of the audit committee.

Combined authorities

The Cities and Local Government Devolution Act 2016 requires combined authorities to have an audit committee, but there are no requirements about where the committee fits into the overall governance structure of the authority. If the combined authority brings together the functions of the PCC with the local authority functions, and in time those of the fire authority as well, then it might be expected that there would be a single audit committee.

Police

Police audit committees are recommended by the FMCP to be joint committees, reporting both to the PCC and the chief constable. To date, all police audit committees operate in this way.

SHARED AUDIT COMMITTEES

Where authorities or policing bodies have entered into significant levels of partnership, a shared audit committee may be a practical way forward. This will be particularly appropriate where there is a shared management team and single functions for finance, audit and risk. In establishing the committee, consideration will need to be given to achieving a balance of representation between the partners and how the chair is to be selected.

AUDIT COMMITTEES IN PARTNERSHIP

Where an authority has major areas of governance and risk shared with other public bodies in a partnership, it may be appropriate to set up formal arrangements between the respective audit committees. This could involve one audit committee being nominated to take the lead on matters relating to the partnership. Alternatively, the audit committees could nominate representatives to a shared audit committee to oversee the partnership.

DECISION-MAKING POWERS AND DELEGATIONS

All audit committees are non-executive bodies whose role is to make recommendations rather than to decide policies directly. The impact of the committee is through influence and persuasion rather than direct decision making. The committee's effectiveness does not depend on the delegation of powers.

The constitution of a local authority may include direct delegations to its audit committee, for example to approve the AGS or financial statements on behalf of the authority, as well as undertaking the review. In establishing whether the audit committee is to have any delegated decision-making powers, the local authority should take into account the number and role of independent members on the committee. In doing this, it will need to take into account the issue of voting rights outlined in Chapter 7. CIPFA recommends that delegation of decision-making powers on matters not directly related to the work of the audit committee should be avoided.

Police audit committees in England and Wales can never be delegated decision-making or approval powers by the PCC or the chief constable.

ADMINISTRATIVE AND OPERATIONAL ARRANGEMENTS

Agenda management and frequency of meetings

The frequency and timing of meetings is a matter for each authority to determine, based on its corporate governance arrangements, together with consideration of how the committee can operate effectively and fulfil its purpose. To fit with planning, monitoring and annual reporting arrangements, most organisations will find they will require at least four meetings a year. Aspects of the audit committee agenda will be determined by statutory requirements related to the accounts and matters related to the financial year. Outside these agenda items, the audit committee should aim to manage its agenda according to its assurance needs to fulfil its terms of reference.

Where an audit committee is addressing the full range of governance, risk, control and audit functions, care should be taken to balance the frequency of meetings against the need to give the business of the committee sufficient focused attention without lengthy and unproductive meetings. Equally, the audit committee should review whether the inclusion of each item on its agenda results in added value and whether some time-consuming aspects of audit committee business could be more effectively addressed elsewhere. In making these judgements, the audit committee should operate at a resolutely strategic level. Care should be taken to avoid straying into matters of operational detail that should be resolved by service managers. The skilful chairing of meetings with well-planned agendas should provide the final mechanism for avoiding this danger.

Supporting the audit committee and key relationships

Effective administrative support for the audit committee will clearly be important as for any committee of the authority. If the committee is to take an active part in the authority's business, it should be administered as effectively as any other committee meeting. The regular attendance of key senior management figures is important – both to maintain the credibility of the committee and to ensure that members are adequately supported by appropriate professionals.

The Role of the Chief Financial Officer in Local Government (CIPFA, 2016) and the CIPFA Statement on the Role of Chief Financial Officers in Policing (2018) emphasise the importance of having an effective audit committee to support the CFO. Police audit committees will need to work with the CFO of both the PCC and the chief constable. The CFO in a local authority must lead the promotion and delivery by the whole authority of good financial management so that public money is safeguarded at all times and used appropriately, economically, efficiently and effectively.

The CFO should therefore be a key point of contact for audit committee members and it is essential that the CFO has direct access to the committee. It is also a responsibility of the CFO to support the authority's internal audit arrangements and ensure that the audit committee receives any necessary advice and information, so that both functions can operate effectively. The audit committee should then be in a position to provide effective support to the CFO.

The head of internal audit should also have a good relationship with the committee and be a key point of contact. Internal audit reports or updates will be a regular feature of audit committee agendas, so the head of internal audit should be expected to attend all meetings.

A public sector requirement within the PSIAS states:

The chief audit executive must also establish effective communication with, and have free and unfettered access to, the chief executive (or equivalent) and the chair of the audit committee.

The head of internal audit's relationship with the audit committee, especially the chair, is crucial. They should be mutually supportive in their aim to be objective and to provide challenge and support across the organisation and improve governance, risk management and internal control. The head of internal audit must work closely with the audit committee chair so that they are clear about their respective roles and make best use of the available resources.

To be effective, an audit committee will need to engage with a wider range of officers than representatives of finance and internal audit, essential though they are. While it is for each audit committee to determine who attends its meetings, the following examples demonstrate the wide range of officers who can attend and add value to audit committee meetings:

- chief executive or equivalent – for the AGS and other governance-related issues
- monitoring officer – for the AGS and ethical governance issues
- risk management officer – for discussions around the risk registers and risk reports
- head of counter fraud – for agenda items on fraud risks and counter fraud activity
- service senior managers – for audit, risk, or governance discussions on their service areas (while recognising the operational independence of the chief constable on operational policing matters)
- scrutiny, ethics or standards committee representatives – it may be helpful to invite representatives along to explain their work programme or recent reports.

Consideration should also be given to supporting the audit committee outside formal meetings. There may be a need to keep committee members briefed on issues that are on the agenda, and other matters may be too detailed for inclusion on the agenda. For example, internal audit reports may be provided in full to committee members but may be included on the meeting agenda only where there are significant risks to be discussed. This issue may be of particular importance for police audit committees where the members are not routinely involved in other meetings and do not have the same rights of access to information as do local authority councillors. Arrangements to provide the members with an appropriate level of information and updates and a protocol for managing information requests should be discussed and agreed.

Private meetings with external auditors and with internal auditors are a common feature of audit committees in the private sector and in other parts of the public sector. The aim of this is to ensure that there are opportunities to raise any concerns. In local authorities this has proved difficult to replicate because of the requirements for committee meetings to be held in public. Some authorities have approached this by specifying that such meetings are informal. Authorities should aim to provide full opportunities for auditors, external and internal, to have access to the chair of the audit committee.

ACCOUNTABILITY

Given its role in the governance structure and in promoting the principles of good governance, the audit committee should be clear how it supports one of the key principles: accountability. It is also important that the audit committee is, in its turn, held to account on the extent to which it has fulfilled its purpose. For an audit committee, accountability has to be considered under three aspects, each of which is considered below:

1. supporting the authority's accountability to the public and stakeholders
2. supporting accountability within the authority
3. holding the audit committee to account.

Supporting the authority's accountability to the public and stakeholders

The committee has a key role in reviewing the public reports of the authority and in helping the authority to discharge its responsibilities in this area. Committee meetings will normally be held in public, with the exception of exempt items, so this also contributes to the accountability of the authority to the public and stakeholders.

The Home Office publishes an Accountability System Statement for Policing and Crime Reduction which identifies the formal accountability relationships of policing bodies. The statement does not identify a formal accountability role for the police audit committee, which reflects its role as an advisory body supporting the PCC and chief constable. For police audit committees, therefore, the committee provides support for accountability to the public and other stakeholders but does not directly discharge that responsibility itself.

A wider group of stakeholders, such as partner organisations or the police and crime panel, may have an interest in the work of the committee, although there is no direct accountability relationship between the panel and the audit committee. Holding open meetings and publishing agendas and minutes will support wider communication and transparency.

Supporting accountability within the authority

Through review of internal and external audit reports, monitoring of risk registers and other key strategies, the audit committee will hold to account those responsible for the implementation of recommendations and action plans. In addition, by overseeing the process of evaluating and improving governance, risk management and control, the audit committee helps those responsible for governance to ensure that accountability throughout the authority is working well.

The audit committee is most effective in supporting internal accountability when it discusses governance, risk or control issues with the responsible managers directly. In the most recent CIPFA survey, this was an area that heads of internal audit identified for improvement in their audit committees.

Holding the audit committee to account

The audit committee should be held to account on a regular basis by the group to which it is accountable. For a local authority audit committee, this will be the council. For a police audit committee, it will be both the PCC and the chief constable. The aspects that should be specifically considered include:

- whether the committee has fulfilled its agreed terms of reference
- whether the committee has adopted recommended practice
- whether the development needs of committee members have been assessed and whether committee members are accessing briefing and training opportunities
- whether the committee has assessed its own effectiveness or been the subject of a review and the conclusions and actions from that review
- what impact the committee has on the improvement of governance, risk and control within the authority.

The preparation of an annual report by the committee can be a helpful way to address the key areas where the committee should be held to account. The annual report should be presented to those charged with governance: council or PCC and chief constable as appropriate. In addition, publication of the report will assist other stakeholders to understand the work of the committee.

It can be difficult to ensure that those not directly involved in the work of the committee achieve an understanding of its role. Where there is a lack of understanding about the work of the committee, then the process of holding the committee to account may not operate effectively. This is considered further in Chapter 7.

Membership and effectiveness

Extract from the Position Statement

- 6 Good audit committees are characterised by:
- a membership that is balanced, objective, independent of mind, knowledgeable and properly trained to fulfil their role. The political balance of a formal committee of an authority will reflect the political balance of the council, however, it is important to achieve the right mix of apolitical expertise
  - a membership that is supportive of good governance principles and their practical application towards the achievement of organisational objectives
  - a strong independently minded chair – displaying a depth of knowledge, skills and interest. There are many personal qualities needed to be an effective chair, but key to these are:
    - promoting apolitical open discussion
    - managing meetings to cover all business and encouraging a candid approach from all participants
    - an interest in and knowledge of financial and risk management, audit, accounting concepts and standards, and the regulatory regime
  - unbiased attitudes – treating auditors, the executive and management fairly
  - the ability to challenge the executive and senior managers when required.

COMPOSITION AND OPERATION OF THE COMMITTEE

The composition of the committee will be a key factor in achieving the characteristics of a good audit committee.

Audit committees in Welsh local authorities and combined authorities in England and in police audit committees in England and Wales are subject to specific rules on the composition of the audit committee as follows:

- The composition of the audit committee for Welsh local authorities is subject to the Local Government \(Wales\) Measure 2011, which requires local authority audit committees to have at least one lay member. Up to one-third of the committee membership may be lay members. Only one of the committee's members may be from the council's executive and this must not be the leader or the elected mayor.
- Police audit committees should comprise between three and five members who are independent of the PCC and the force as required by the Financial Management Code of Practice for the Police Forces of England and Wales (Home Office, 2013 – due to be updated in 2018).

- Combined authorities in England are required to establish an audit committee by the Cities and Local Government Devolution Act 2016. The Act and the subsequent Combined Authorities \(Overview and Scrutiny Committees, Access to Information and Audit Committees\) Order 2017 require combined authority audit committees to include at least one independent member. The definition of independent is set out in the statutory guidance.

In other parts of the local authority sector there are no statutory requirements that determine the composition of the audit committee. In Northern Ireland, the Chief Local Government Auditor has recommended that suitable independent members are appointed to all local authority audit committees. In the most recent report, ten out of eleven local authority committees had appointed at least one independent member to the committee.

CIPFA endorses the approach of mandating the inclusion of a lay or independent member and recommends that those authorities, for whom it is not a requirement, actively explore the appointment of an independent member to the committee.

In other sectors, the audit committee can be small – fewer than six members. Guidance on Audit Committees (FRC, 2016) says that an audit committee should have at least three non-executive directors. The Audit and Risk Assurance Committee Handbook (HM Treasury, 2016) states that a committee should have at least three members of which there should be two non-executive board members, one of whom will chair the committee; executive members are explicitly excluded.

In the local authority sector where membership of the committee is drawn from elected representatives, the depth of knowledge and experience that is desirable may be harder to achieve with a small number, however, there is a risk that creating a large committee will mean that it is harder to create the necessary focus. There is no consistency in the local government sector on the size of the committee. CIPFA's 2016 survey of audit committees found that size of the committee ranged from five to fifteen or more, although 47% had between six and eight members, with 2% having fewer and 50% having more. The survey showed that the average size of the committee had increased since CIPFA's 2011 survey.

Elected members of local authorities are members of the council and thus are part of the body charged with governance. Elected members bring knowledge of the organisation, its objectives and policies to the audit committee. Members who are also involved in scrutiny or standards offer additional knowledge of activity, risks and challenges affecting those areas.

Having executive members on the committee is discouraged as it could deter the committee from being able to challenge or hold to account the executive on governance, risk and control matters. This approach is consistent with audit committee practice in other parts of the public sector and in the private sector. Inviting an executive member onto the committee should be avoided unless the committee has other compensating arrangements to ensure independence, for example, a majority of independent members or an independent chair. The executive member should not chair the committee. The leader of the cabinet, administration or the elected mayor should not be a member of the audit committee. However, the audit committee can invite members of the executive to attend to discuss issues within its remit and to brief the committee on the actions they are taking.

Any audit committee that is a properly constituted committee of the council will need to abide by the rules concerning political balance, as outlined in Section 15 of the Local Government and Housing Act 1989. Under the statutory guidance, combined authorities are required to reflect the political balance of the constituent authorities as far as is practicable. One factor that is important for the success of the committee is ensuring a non-political approach to meetings and discussions. When establishing a joint audit committee, the political balance of both authorities will need to be considered.

Good practice shows that co-option of independent members is beneficial to the audit committee. It is a requirement for police audit committees, English combined authorities and for local authorities in Wales, and it is usual practice for non-executives to be committee members in health and central government audit committees. The injection of an external view can often bring a new approach to committee discussions. Authorities that have chosen to recruit independent members have done so for a number of reasons:

- to bring additional knowledge and expertise to the committee
- to reinforce the political neutrality and independence of the committee
- to maintain continuity of committee membership where membership is affected by the electoral cycle.

There are some potential pitfalls to the use of independent members which should also be borne in mind:

- over-reliance on the independent members by other committee members can lead to a lack of engagement across the full committee
- lack of organisational knowledge or ‘context’ among the independent members when considering risk registers or audit reports
- effort is required from both independent members and officers/staff to establish an effective working relationship and establish appropriate protocols for briefings and access to information.

These factors should be taken into account when developing the committee structure and plans put in place to provide an appropriate level of support to the audit committee member.

Voting rights of independent members

Local authorities should have regard to Section 13 of the Local Government and Housing Act 1989 which relates to the voting rights of non-elected committee members. Where the audit committee is operating as an advisory committee under the Local Government Act 1972, making recommendations rather than policy, then all members of the committee should be able to vote on that recommendation. If the council wishes to delegate decisions to the committee, for example the adoption of the financial statements, then the independent member will not be able to vote on those matters for decision. The minutes of the meeting should make clear in what capacity the committee is voting.

Recruitment process

The job description of the independent member should be drawn up and agreed before commencing recruitment. The requirement for relevant knowledge or expertise should be clearly determined. Vacancies should be publicly advertised, as is good practice for any public appointment. Candidates should be able to demonstrate their political independence and their suitability should be checked. Only the independent members for combined authorities have to satisfy specific definitions of their independence. Appropriate enquiries will need to be made as part of the recruitment process to ensure that any applicants satisfy the requirements, and continuation of compliance should be monitored during the term of appointment.

Independent members' appointments should be for a fixed term and be formally approved by the local authority's council or the PCC and the chief constable. Provision should be made for early termination and extension to avoid lack of clarity in the future. While operating as a member of the audit committee, the independent member should follow the same code of conduct as elected members and a register of interests should be maintained.

The primary considerations when considering audit committee membership should be maximising the committee's knowledge base and skills, being able to demonstrate objectivity and independence, and having a membership that will work together.

KNOWLEDGE AND EXPERIENCE

There is a range of knowledge and experience that audit committee members can bring to the committee and which will enable it to perform effectively. No one committee member would be expected to be expert in all areas, but there are some core areas of knowledge that committee members will need to acquire. There will also be a need for regular briefings or training to help committee members keep up to date or extend their knowledge.

Appendix C sets out a knowledge and skills framework for audit committee members and the committee chair. This can be used to guide members on their training needs and to evaluate the overall knowledge and skills of the committee. It can also be used when recruiting independent members. A distinction is made between core areas of knowledge that all audit committee members should seek to acquire and a range of specialisms that can add value to the committee.

The audit committee should review risks, controls and assurances that cover the whole operation of the authority so knowledge of specific service areas will be helpful. Other areas of specialist knowledge and experience, for example in accountancy, audit, governance and risk management, will add value to the committee.

Skills and competencies

A number of skills are beneficial for the audit committee member to have. There are also specific skills that the audit committee chair will need. Many of these skills are not unique to the role of audit committee member and experience in other member or non-executive roles will have helped to build these skills. Many authorities have training and development plans for elected members, which may include similar skill or competency training opportunities. Evidence of appropriate skills and knowledge should also be sought where independent members are being recruited to the committee.

Self-assessment and training

Audit committee members should be willing to review their knowledge and skills, for example, as part of a self-assessment process or training needs analysis. Regardless of the knowledge and skills a member has when joining the committee, there needs to be a commitment to participate in training and development to ensure that knowledge is kept up to date. The authority should establish a programme of support that involves induction training, regular briefings and updates as well as formal training programmes. This may require the allocation of a budget to provide appropriate support.

Role of the chair

Police audit committees and some authority audit committees may advertise specifically for an independent chair. Following appointment, it would be expected that the person would remain as chair for their appointed period. Where the chair is an elected councilor, the appointment is likely to be made during the annual council and may only be for that committee cycle. Whether undertaken during recruitment or the annual committee cycle, ideally the selection of the chair will take into account the characteristics required of an effective chair. These include:

- an ability to plan the work of the committee over the year and beyond
- skills of managing meetings
- an ability to bring an objective, apolitical attitude
- a core knowledge and skills required of audit committee members
- a clear focus on the role of the committee and ambition to lead the committee in line with good governance principles
- a focus on improvement and securing agreement on actions.

The tenure of the audit committee chair remains a matter for the authority. In making this decision, it should be recognised that a period of continuity can be helpful, particularly for the development of greater knowledge and expertise, while rotation also helps to deliver a new perspective.

DEVELOPING AUDIT COMMITTEE EFFECTIVENESS

An audit committee's effectiveness should be judged by the contribution it makes to, and the beneficial impact it has on, the authority's business. Since it is primarily an advisory body, it can be more difficult to identify how the audit committee has made a difference. Evidence of effectiveness will usually be characterised as 'influence', 'persuasion' and 'support'. A good standard of performance against recommended practice, together with a knowledgeable and experienced membership, are essential requirements for delivering effectiveness.

Using the recommended practice in this publication should help the authority to achieve a good standard of performance. The evaluation at Appendix D will support an assessment against recommended practice to inform and support the audit committee. Authorities are encouraged not to regard meeting recommended practice as a tick-box activity, and they should recognise that achieving recommended practice does not mean necessarily that the committee is effective.

The selection of audit committee members, their knowledge, skills and experience are an essential component of an effective committee. Regular briefings and training are essential to keep members up to date in their role. Members will become more effective with experience so it is helpful to have some continuity of membership on the committee.

The approach and priorities of the audit committee will need to adapt to the risks and challenges facing the authority and reflect the maturity of its governance, risk and control arrangements. For example, in a new authority or one that has gone through significant structural change, there may be little continuity of governance and control arrangements. As a result, the audit committee will focus on the establishment of appropriate arrangements.

Where an authority has been found to have significant weaknesses in its governance or control arrangements, perhaps identified through an inspection or audit, then the audit committee will support the implementation of recommendations or action plans. Where there are barriers to that improvement, the committee may need to adopt a more questioning or challenging role to help break down those barriers. In those authorities where governance, risk and control are satisfactory overall, the audit committee may give greater focus to new risks and developments, but will also want to seek assurance that satisfactory performance does not lead to complacency and lack of innovation.

It is not uncommon for audit committees to face difficulties or barriers to fulfilling their potential effectiveness. CIPFA's survey of audit committees in 2016 identified the principal barriers faced by both local authority and police audit committees. For local authorities, the top three were:

1. limited knowledge and experience of the members
2. the committee not being seen as a priority by other members
3. the intrusion of political interests.

For police audit committees, the top three barriers were:

1. the committee was not considered a priority by the PCC and chief constable
2. the committee was not considered a priority by senior management
3. poor relationships between committee members and staff.

The barriers reflect the different make-up of local authority and police committees.

Some of these may be common issues that audit committees in any sector may face; others may be unique to the local authority or police setting. The following assessment may be of value in helping audit committee members or those supporting the committee to recognise and address the challenges.

APPROACHES TO IMPROVEMENT AND EVALUATING EFFECTIVENESS

The areas included on audit committee agendas are regularly impacted by new legislation, professional guidance and research, so even knowledgeable and experienced audit committee members need access to briefings or training to remain effective. Where areas for development have been identified in the operation of the committee, then a more comprehensive action plan may be required.

Seeking feedback on the operation of the committee may be helpful to supplement a self-assessment. Those interacting regularly with the committee or relying on its output would be the principal sources of feedback. Where the committee is struggling, an external assessment may be an appropriate way to evaluate the committee and to develop an action plan for improvement.

Appendix E contains an assessment tool to help audit committee members to consider where it is most effective and where there may be scope to do more. To be considered effective, the audit committee should be able to identify evidence of its impact or influence linked to specific improvements.

PART 2 – GOVERNMENT GUIDANCE BY SECTOR AND DEVOLVED GOVERNMENT ON MATTERS THAT MAY BE INCLUDED IN AUDIT COMMITTEE TERMS OF REFERENCE

Accounts and Audit Regulations are statutory instruments issued by the UK or the devolved governments. The various regulations impose requirements on ‘relevant bodies’, eg a local authority, a fire and rescue authority or police body, in relation to governance, internal control, financial reporting and internal audit.

The Accounts and Audit Regulations do not specify that these requirements must be met by an audit committee. However, where it is the audit committee of a relevant body that undertakes or reviews the specified task, the audit committee must meet the requirements of the regulations and take them into account in agreeing their terms of reference.

The following is a summary for each sector and/or region of the sets of regulations affecting them, highlighting key regulations. The regulations are subject to periodic update by the appropriate government body and audit committee members should be made aware of any changes by their organisation.

Suggested terms of reference – local authorities and police

This appendix contains two sets of suggested terms of reference, one for local authorities and one for police. The principal difference between them is that the police audit committee must ensure that its terms of reference are in accordance with the Financial Management Code of Practice for the Police Forces of England and Wales (Home Office, 2013 – due to be updated in 2018) and remain an advisory body.

In developing the terms of reference for an organisation, care should be taken to ensure that the specific regulations appropriate for the authority are taken into account.

Appendix A sets out these requirements. In addition, where the terms of reference refer to internal audit, regard should be had for how the internal audit charter has allocated responsibilities to the committee. Some of the internal audit responsibilities identified in the terms of reference may not be carried out by the audit committee but by others.

SUGGESTED TERMS OF REFERENCE – LOCAL AUTHORITIES

Governance

The terms of reference should set out the committee's position in the governance structure of the authority.

Statement of purpose

- 1 Our audit committee is a key component of [name of authority]'s corporate governance. It provides an independent and high-level focus on the audit, assurance and reporting arrangements that underpin good governance and financial standards.
- 2 The purpose of our audit committee is to provide independent assurance to the members [or identify others charged with governance in your authority] of the adequacy of the risk management framework and the internal control environment. It provides independent review of [name of authority]'s governance, risk management and control frameworks and oversees the financial reporting and annual governance processes. It oversees internal audit and external audit, helping to ensure efficient and effective assurance arrangements are in place.

Governance, risk and control

- 3 To review the council's corporate governance arrangements against the good governance framework, including the ethical framework and consider the local code of governance.
- 4 To review the AGS prior to approval and consider whether it properly reflects the risk environment and supporting assurances, taking into account internal audit's opinion on the overall adequacy and effectiveness of the council's framework of governance, risk management and control.
- 5 To consider the council's arrangements to secure value for money and review assurances and assessments on the effectiveness of these arrangements.
- 6 To consider the council's framework of assurance and ensure that it adequately addresses the risks and priorities of the council.
- 7 To monitor the effective development and operation of risk management in the council.
- 8 To monitor progress in addressing risk-related issues reported to the committee.
- 9 To consider reports on the effectiveness of internal controls and monitor the implementation of agreed actions.
- 10 To review the assessment of fraud risks and potential harm to the council from fraud and corruption.
- 11 To monitor the counter-fraud strategy, actions and resources.
- 12 To review the governance and assurance arrangements for significant partnerships or collaborations.

To fulfil the requirements of the Local Authority Measure within their terms of reference, local authorities in Wales should identify those aspects which are specified in the Measure. See Appendix A for details. CIPFA considers that the requirement to review and make recommendations on the authority's financial affairs will be fulfilled by reference to items 5, 9 and 10 in these suggested terms of reference as well as those under financial reporting.

Internal audit

- 13 To approve the internal audit charter.
- 14 To review proposals made in relation to the appointment of external providers of internal audit services and to make recommendations.
- 15 To approve the risk-based internal audit plan, including internal audit's resource requirements, the approach to using other sources of assurance and any work required to place reliance upon those other sources.
- 16 To approve significant interim changes to the risk-based internal audit plan and resource requirements.
- 17 To make appropriate enquiries of both management and the head of internal audit to determine if there are any inappropriate scope or resource limitations.
- 18 To consider any impairments to independence or objectivity arising from additional roles or responsibilities outside of internal auditing of the head of internal audit. To approve and periodically review safeguards to limit such impairments.

- 19 To consider reports from the head of internal audit on internal audit's performance during the year, including the performance of external providers of internal audit services. These will include:
  - a) updates on the work of internal audit including key findings, issues of concern and action in hand as a result of internal audit work
  - b) regular reports on the results of the QAIP
  - c) reports on instances where the internal audit function does not conform to the PSIAS and LGAN, considering whether the non-conformance is significant enough that it must be included in the AGS.
- 20 To consider the head of internal audit's annual report:
  - a) The statement of the level of conformance with the PSIAS and LGAN and the results of the QAIP that support the statement – these will indicate the reliability of the conclusions of internal audit.
  - b) The opinion on the overall adequacy and effectiveness of the council's framework of governance, risk management and control together with the summary of the work supporting the opinion – these will assist the committee in reviewing the AGS.
- 21 To consider summaries of specific internal audit reports as requested.
- 22 To receive reports outlining the action taken where the head of internal audit has concluded that management has accepted a level of risk that may be unacceptable to the authority or there are concerns about progress with the implementation of agreed actions.
- 23 To contribute to the QAIP and in particular, to the external quality assessment of internal audit that takes place at least once every five years.
- 24 To consider a report on the effectiveness of internal audit to support the AGS, where required to do so by the Accounts and Audit Regulations (see Appendix A).
- 25 To provide free and unfettered access to the audit committee chair for the head of internal audit, including the opportunity for a private meeting with the committee.

External audit

- 26 To support the independence of external audit through consideration of the external auditor's annual assessment of its independence and review of any issues raised by PSAA or the authority's auditor panel as appropriate.
- 27 To consider the external auditor's annual letter, relevant reports and the report to those charged with governance.
- 28 To consider specific reports as agreed with the external auditor.
- 29 To comment on the scope and depth of external audit work and to ensure it gives value for money.
- 30 To commission work from internal and external audit.
- 31 To advise and recommend on the effectiveness of relationships between external and internal audit and other inspection agencies or relevant bodies.

Financial reporting

- 32 To review the annual statement of accounts. Specifically, to consider whether appropriate accounting policies have been followed and whether there are concerns arising from the financial statements or from the audit that need to be brought to the attention of the council.
- 33 To consider the external auditor's report to those charged with governance on issues arising from the audit of the accounts.

Accountability arrangements

- 34 To report to those charged with governance on the committee's findings, conclusions and recommendations concerning the adequacy and effectiveness of their governance, risk management and internal control frameworks, financial reporting arrangements, and internal and external audit functions.
- 35 To report to full council on a regular basis on the committee's performance in relation to the terms of reference and the effectiveness of the committee in meeting its purpose.
- 36 To publish an annual report on the work of the committee.

SUGGESTED TERMS OF REFERENCE – POLICE

There is no formal requirement as to how the audit committee relates to the governance structures of the PCC and the chief constable, but it is recommended that this is clearly set out in the terms of reference.

Statement of purpose

- 1 Our [audit] [joint audit] committee is a key component of [name of body]'s corporate governance. It provides an independent and high-level focus on the audit, assurance and reporting arrangements that underpin good governance and financial standards.
- 2 The purpose of our [audit] [joint audit] committee is to provide independent advice and recommendation to [select from 'the police and crime commissioner' (or name), 'the chief constable' (or name)] on the adequacy of the governance and risk management frameworks, the internal control environment, and financial reporting, thereby helping to ensure efficient and effective assurance arrangements are in place. To this end the committee is enabled and required to have oversight of, and to provide independent review of, the effectiveness of [name of body]'s governance, risk management and control frameworks, its financial reporting and annual governance processes, and internal audit and external audit.
- 3 These terms of reference will summarise the core functions of the committee in relation to the office of the police and crime commissioner (OPCC) and to the constabulary and describe the protocols in place to enable it to operate independently, robustly and effectively.

Governance, risk and control

The committee will provide advice and recommendations to the PCC or chief constable in relation to the following areas:

- 4 Review the corporate governance arrangements against the good governance framework, including the ethical framework and consider the local code of governance.

- 6 Consider the arrangements to secure value for money and review assurances and assessments on the effectiveness of these arrangements.
- 7 Consider the framework of assurance and ensure that it adequately addresses the risks and priorities of the OPCC/the constabulary.
- 8 Monitor the effective development and operation of risk management, review the risk profile, and monitor progress of the PCC/the chief constable in addressing risk-related issues reported to them.
- 9 Consider reports on the effectiveness of internal controls and monitor the implementation of agreed actions.
- 10 Review arrangements for the assessment of fraud risks and potential harm from fraud and corruption and monitor the effectiveness of the counter fraud strategy, actions and resources.
- 11 To review the governance and assurance arrangements for significant partnerships or collaborations.

Internal audit

The committee will provide advice and recommendations to the PCC or chief constable in relation to the following areas:

- 12 Annually review the internal audit charter and resources.
- 13 Review the internal audit plan and any proposed revisions to the internal audit plan.
- 14 Oversee the appointment and consider the adequacy of the performance of the internal audit service and its independence.
- 15 Consider the head of internal audit's annual report and opinion, and a regular summary of the progress of internal audit activity against the audit plan, and the level of assurance it can give over corporate governance arrangements.
- 16 To consider the head of internal audit's statement of the level of conformance with the PSIAS and LGAN and the results of the QAIP that support the statement – these will indicate the reliability of the conclusions of internal audit.
- 17 Consider summaries of internal audit reports and such detailed reports as the committee may request from the PCC/the chief constable, including issues raised or recommendations made by the internal audit service, management response and progress with agreed actions.
- 18 Consider a report on the effectiveness of internal audit to support the AGS, where required to do so by the Accounts and Audit Regulations \(Wales\) 2014 (see Appendix A).

- 19 To consider any impairments to independence or objectivity arising from additional roles or responsibilities outside of internal auditing of the head of internal audit. To make recommendations on safeguards to limit such impairments and periodically review their operation.

External audit

The committee will provide advice and recommendations to the PCC or chief constable in relation to the following areas:

- 20 Support the independence of external audit through consideration of the external auditor's annual assessment of its independence and review of any issues raised by either PSAA or the auditor panel as appropriate.
- 21 Comment on the scope and depth of external audit work, its independence and whether it gives satisfactory value for money.
- 22 Consider the external auditor's annual management letter, relevant reports and the report to those charged with governance.
- 23 Consider specific reports as agreed with the external auditor.
- 24 Advise and recommend on the effectiveness of relationships between external and internal audit and other inspection agencies or relevant bodies.

Financial reporting

The committee will provide advice and recommendations to the PCC or chief constable in relation to the following areas:

- 25 Review the annual statement of accounts. Specifically, to consider whether appropriate accounting policies have been followed and whether there are concerns arising from the financial statements or from the audit of the financial statements that need to be brought to the attention of the PCC and/or the chief constable.
- 26 Consider the external auditor's report to those charged with governance on issues arising from the audit of the financial statements.

Self-assessment of good practice

Where an audit committee has a high degree of performance against the good practice principles, then it is an indicator that the committee is soundly based and has in place a knowledgeable membership. These are the essential factors in developing an effective audit committee.

A regular self-assessment can be used to support the planning of the audit committee work programme and training plans. It can also inform an annual report.
